

Transfer Students
Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN)
Longwood University

Longwood's Nursing program is designed as a four-year program with entry at the freshman level. Occasionally, space is available for students attending other institutions to transfer into the Nursing program here at Longwood. There is no guarantee space will be available for students to transfer into the program.

Students accepted by transfer into the Nursing program will typically begin at the freshman level, or First year. As space is available, those students who have completed Biology 206 and 207: Human Anatomy and Physiology I and II with a grade of C or better may be considered for Second year entry. Students who qualify for Second year entry would need to have taken First year Nursing courses, NURS 100 and 105, prior to enrolling, or plan to take it during the summer semester prior to the start of the second year.

Interested applicants who have prior Nursing credit will have those transcripts and course syllabi reviewed by the Nursing Admissions committee with articulation decisions being made on a case-by-case basis.

Applications to transfer into nursing will be reviewed for admission to the program prior to the start of the upcoming semester. Applications for spring semester are due December 1; applications for fall semester are due July 1.

The Nursing Admissions Committee will review applicants' high school and college transcripts, SAT/ACT scores, and personal statements. To be considered for admission, applicants should have the following:

- Preferred high school GPA of 3.2;
- Minimum composite score of 1000 on Redesigned SAT, with a minimum scaled score of 500 on the math portion/minimum composite score of 20 on ACT;
- Preferred BIOL 206, 207 or CHEM 111 and MATH 171 with a grade of C or better
- Minimum college GPA of 2.75; preferred college GPA of 3.0 or higher.

If applicants have 24 or more credits after high school graduation, high school transcript and test score information is not required to be submitted.

To apply, please visit <http://www.longwood.edu/apply/>.